WEGENINE AN EXCELLENT MEDICINE. EN EXCELLENT MEDICINE.

Springfield, O., Feb. 28, 1877.

This is to certify that I have used Vegetine, manufactured by H. R. Stevens, Boston, Mass., for Rheumatism and General Prostration of the Nervous System, with good success. I recom-mend Vegotine as an excellent medicine for such

At the time I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by everwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful attengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose; and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give Vegotine my most unqualified endorsement, as being a safe, sure and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use; and as long as I live I never expect to find a better. Yours truly,

Hyde Park, Mass., Feb. 15, 1876.

Mr. H. R. Stevens,

Dear Sir: About ton years ago my health failed through the depleting effects of dyspepsis; nearly a year later I was attacked by typhoid-fever in its worst form. It settled in my back, and took the form of a largedeep-seated abscess, which was fifteen months in gathering. I had two surgical operations by the best skill in the state, but received no permanent cure. I suffered great pain at times, and was constantly weak-ened by a profuse discharge. I also lost small pieces of bone at different times.

Matters ran on thus for about seven years, till May, 1874, when a friend recommended me to go to your office, and talk with you on the virtue of Vegetine. I did so, and by your kindness passed through your manufactory, noting the passed through your manufactory, noting the ingredients, &c., by which your remedy is produced.

By what I saw and heard I gained some confidence in Vegetine.

I commonced taking it soon after, but felt worse from its effects; still I perserved, and soon foit it was benefitting me in other respects. Yet I did not see the results I desired till I had taken it feithfully for little more than a year. When ken it faithfully for little more than a year, when the difficulty in the back was cured; for nine months I have enjoyed the best of health. I have in that time gained twenty-five pounds of flesh, being heavier than ever before in my life, and I was never more able to perform labor

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Six months...... Nelson T. Gand's Romance. The marriage on Saturday, Jan. 11th of Nelson T. Gand, of Zanesville, Ohio, and Miss Lavinia Logan, of Parkersburg, W. Va., (both colored) recal's a celebrated story in its day. Nelson T. Gand was been in Loudoun county, Va., about four miles from Leesburg, on the 20th of May, 1822. His parents were favorites with their master, John Nixon, and the child, being very delicate, was treated with great kindness. At the age of niceteen he was married to Sarah Thomas, a slave belonging to Miss Jane Russell. Gand made many friends among the planters by his straightforward, honest ways. He had always been an especial favorite with his master, and when the latter died in 1844 no one was surprised to hear that he had left free papers to Gand. Gand succeeded among his many friends in raising sufficient money to purchase the liberty of his wife, but when he applied to Miss Russell she answered that his wife was not fersile. Again and sgain, by entreaties and persusions, threats and promises, he andeavored to move Mass Russell. Her reply, she said, was figal; he could not have his wife. By the law a freedman remain ing in the State a year after his release was its ble to be sold again into elevery. Gand, finding his entreaties and threats of no avail, offered to sell himself once more for a number of years on condition that he and his wife would be permitted to go in peace; but his offer received the same response as before. Driven to des peration, he, as a last resort, determined to steal his wife away. Accordingly making an appointment in six weeks at a rendezvous in Leesburg, he came to Ohio and made all arrangements for their flight. As the appointed time they met at a stable in Leesburg at nice e'clock at night and made ready for their long tramp to Washington city, forty miles away .--At Washington Gand had several good friends, one of whom had promised to assist him. Most of the way from Leesburg to Washington Nelson carried his wife on his back. Tired and worn out, the courageous pair arrived in Wash ington the next evening and proceeded to the house of his friend, who met them with tears in his eyes and begged them to go somewhere else, so as not to involve him in trouble. He informed them that a few days before he had been arrested charged with aiding refugees and laid under very heavy bonds. He begged them therefore not to compromise him, but referred them to another man in the city who would help them. In a very despondent mood they went to his house and were received very earburing the past few weeks I had a scrofulous swelling asiarge as my fist gather on another part of my body.

I took Vegetine faithfully, and it removed it level with the surface in a month. I think I should have been cured of my main trouble sooner if I had taken larger doses, after having become accustomed to its effects.

Went to his house and were received very correlations and were received very correlations and were received very correlations. Gand and his wife, being almost dead from fatigue and hunger, having been afraid to sak for food on the road for fear of being apprehended, gave their new acquaintance money to purchase them some food. He went out, but in a short time returned with six policement of the part of the past few weeks I had a scrofulous dead from fatigue and hunger, having been afraid to sak for food on the road for fear of being apprehended, gave their new acquaintance money to purchase them some food. He went out, but in a short time returned with six policemen. Gand, worn out as he was, determined to surrender liberty only with life, armed himself with a revolver and dirk and prepared to sell his life as dearly as possible. His wife, however, threw herself into his arms, and partly by force and partly by entricties succeeded in persuad iog him to give up peaceably. They were questioned as to who they were and where they were going. By the aid of a friend Gand had procured counterfeit freedom papers for his wife, purporting to be issued in accordance with the will of John Nixon. Gand demanded to be taken hefore a justice of the peace and then showed his papers. The justice of the peace could find no flaw in them, but being suspicious, sont for a lawyer. The counterfeiter had made a mistake in the middle initial letter of the clerk's name attached to the papers, so that while Gand's papers were signed "Charles G, E-kridge, clerk," his wile's were signed "Charles P. E-kridge, clerk." The lawyer, noticing this fact, pronounced one of them a HAIR BUILDING AND GROUNDS FOR RENT.-Proposals will be received notif forgery, but, of course, could not say which one. On this they were remanded to jul. Pand secured the services of two of the most nistinguished lawyers at the Washington bar, Jones and Carlisle, who made strenous, but futile efforts to obtain a hearing for him in the District of Columbia. They then threw up the caso, and the Governor of Virginia having made a requisition for him, he was bound hand and foot and thrown on the top of the stage coach bound for Leesburg. Despairing and half crezed, he endeav, red to throw himself off at the Narrows, but was prevented by the guard, He was throws into prison in Leesburg-a loathsome plece. "Rober Swann, a personal friend and the brother of Go versor Swann, of Maryland. told me," says Gand, "that my only chance lig in securing the services of the famous John Januey, at that time a celebrated pleader and afterwards chairman of the Virginia convention when the State secuded. I sent for Jaone; but he refused to some. Accordingly, Carp. r. a local attorney, and Rober: Ewann, promeded to try my case. I had two trials, a month apart, neither of which definitely settled the c.s... Then Swann came to me and told me it was all over, I would surely be convioued at the next term of court. About this time I ran cut of money, and was very uear suicide through de epitr, but God raised me up a tru: friend in my trouble. Thus, Nicholis a worthy Quaker, for whom I had once done some ineignificant service, came into the jail one day and handed in to me through the bars a roll of moces, saying he could not sleep while I lay there; that if got out I was honest and would repay him and that if not be could well spare the money. He also obtained Jaccey's services for me."

Just at this time the able prosecutor. Burr Harrison, was elected to a seat in the Ligisia ture and his son, Matthew Harrison, a young and iu-xperienced lawyer, took his pleci as Prosecuting Attorney. At the trial, first judges being on the bereb, Janney appeared and made an elequent speech les ing six hour-. Gond says it was the most affecting scene he even witnessed. The court room was crowded and Jaquey brought tears into everybody's eyes. It was such a powerful appeal that Presiding Justica Saunders, afterwards Chief Justice, said: "The poer boy has done no-thing. Let him go." He was accordingly The "animal odors" and evil flavors, in milk thing. Let him go." He was accordingly acquitted and released. Miss Rusell's over-seer threatened to kill him if he came near the house again. Nothing daunted by this threat, Gand forced himself into the presence of Miss Russell and again begged her to sell Mrs. Gand to him, but again met the same iron refusal. Public opinion by this time becoming very strong on this subject, several of the prominent men of Leesburg visited Miss Russell and told her that if she would not sell Mrs. Gand they would not be answerable for the consequences. At last, frightened by the popular clamor, Miss Ru-sell yielded and sold his wife to Gand. Gand and his wife imme diately moved to Ohio, settled here, and after
